REGISTRATION OF FIRST TWO DAYS BRINGS 1462 STUDENTS INTO U. OF K.

Enrollment Shows Increase of 12 Per Cent Over That of Last Year

100 ARE TURNED AWAY

Prospects Bright for Greatest Year at University

The oft-enacted scene of registration was reproduced with an unusual galaxy of all-stars and the most promising chorus that has ever appeared on this historic stage. When word went out of the exceptional quality of the new material, old favorites in all parts of the state packed their bags and returned to the campus, some in search of advanced degrees and others to make up the few points needed for a bachelor degree. Few of the undergraduates of last year failed to put in appearance at the opening.

In the first two days of registration the University of Kentucky acquired 1,463 students, an increase of 160 over last year, and from all indications this number will be augmented by not less than 200 before the end of the week. The greatest activity of persons unfriendly to the University since the early seventies met by the unswerving loyalty of students, alumni and friends has resulted in an increase of 12 per cent, instead of a falling off in attendance. It was necessary to turn away more than 100 young women because of housing conditions.

Among the men students are many who had planned previously to go to some eastern institution. Reports from alumni clubs in Kentucky indicate that the university has made inroads on the recruits expected by institutions in other states.

NEW MEMBERS ADDED TO U. K. FACULTY

Various Departments Enlarged to Care for Marked Increase

The University opened last Monday with faculty and student body expecting this to be one of the best years in its history. Several new faces were seen in the faculty, as there has been the addition of several new members, well qualified for their work.

The following list comprises the faculty members who have been added:

Art Department—Allen Swisher, instructor in Art, received his training here and abroad. His work has been in many important exhibitions and is included in several good collections.

English Department—E. E. Fleischman, assistant professor of English in the field of Public Speaking, received his degree from the University of Oregon.

Lawrence Yates, instructor in English, graduated from Kentucky Wesleyan College several years ago.

Geology Department—E. S. Abele, instructor in Geology, received his degree of B. S. from Amherst College.

German Department—R. G. Richner, instructor in German, is a native of Switzerland. He was appointed to

SU-KY CIRCLE PLANS CINDER TRACK DRIVE

The Su-Ky Circle, booster organization of the University, has renewed work among the student body, and is planning to start a drive as soon as possible for a cinder track. The Su-Ky Circle, has been a great benefit to the University.

The officers elected last spring to serve during the following year are: Arthur Bradshaw, president; Sneed Yeager, vice-president; Miss Margaret Lavin, secretary, and Carl Riefkin, treasurer.

Most of the members have returned for the fall term, including Ryan Ringo, who will lead the cheers and be chief "pep" generator.

BLUE AND WHITE WILL HAVE BIG GRID YEAR

Nine Games Are Scheduled With Season Opening Here on September 30

(By Emmitt Bradley.)

"The King is Dead, Long Live the King," as Sir Walter Scott would say in his great historical novel Emulsion. Of course King Baseball won't be dead officially until October 4, that date marking the beginning of the world series. Locally, however, his reign will cease much earlier for by that time one of the nine games booked by Athletic Director S. A. "Daddy" Boles for the Wildcat gridiron program will be history.

Monday marked the beginning of Kentucky's second week of practice. A careful study of the Wildcats' prospects this year indicates that Kentucky should have a mighty successful season, the opinion of Ed Danforth, sporting editor of the Atlanta-Georgian, to the contrary notwithstanding. Ed is visiting fourteen universities to observe what sort of timber is going into football this fall. Last week he was over at the county seat of Boyle and from what he observed there it seems that Coach "Injun Bill" Juneau is not the only coach in these here parts who will have to develop a quarterback. Lavin's absence from Kentucky's lineup will make a big dent, but "Bo's" absence from Centre's lineup will make a bigger one, so there you are.

Many Aspire for Quarter

Speaking of quarterbacks reminds us that the first casualty of the season was suffered Monday afternoon when Ted Brewer, who is trying out for quarter, sprained his shoulder. There are three contenders for this position. Bruce Fuller is another player on last year's squad who will be tried at the chirping position. Fuller is considered by some an excellent triple-threat man, that is in passing, punting and broken field running. The next man for quarter is Brown who starred with Bloomfield High and who showed class last year on the varsity team. Brown is good at the forward pass and the punt and was a good field general last year though lacking experience. He should show up even better this year.

Freddie Fest, center of last year's squad, has announced that he will start practice this week. Fest underwent an operation this summer and was not expected to be in the Wildcat lineup until late in the season. He is in excellent condition and rearin' to go. His presence will be a welcome addition to the Blue and White lineup. Coach Juneau, however, is taking no chances and will keep Moralle and Gatton, of last year's freshmen squad, working at the center position.

GRAND OLD MAN OF UNIVERSITY ANSWERS SUMMONS OF GRIM REAPER

DR. JAMES K. PATTERSON

James Kennedy Patterson Dies at Age of 89, President Emeritus of Institution He Had Captained for 41 Years

ENDOWS NEW COLLEGE

In the heart of the University which he had loved and served so well, James Kennedy Patterson, "The Grand Old Man," died August 15. He died and yet he lives "in the heart of hearts" of the University, in the memory of the sons and daughters of the institution who have gone to every corner of the universe to strive and to achieve in justification and in perpetuation of the ideals with which they were imbued here.

When the soul of the President Emeritus started on its way to the Great Beyond there was a rustling in the trees as there assembled the spirits of alumni returning to a hallowed spot, portending the arrival of their successors a vast throng from all ends of Kentucky and sister states impelled by a longing for enlightenment, all indicating how well he builded.

The story of his life from early manhood to the last is the story of the University and public education in Kentucky. He was brave when a less courageous leader might have lost the battle. His eloquence won the following of the rugged leaders of Kentucky when logic might have passed unheeded. From those who stood opposed as well as those who fought by his side comes acknowledgement that his aims were achieved in the accomplishment of today, a University of Kentucky which rightly is the love of a proud Commonwealth. In the hands of his worthy successor, upheld by loyal sons and daughters, the Alma Mater will become a mightier agency in the building up of the Southland.

In the forty-one years of his presidency, James Kennedy Patterson saw the institution grow from the Alma Mater of a graduating class of one to the inspiration of a class of 90 and ere his watching eye had dimmed a graduating class that numbered 220. These numbers are but material indices of the "Kentucky spirit," the proud possession of 20,000 former students dedicated to the service of Alma Mater.

Doctor Patterson's estate was left in trust for the University to found a college for the preparation of young men for diplomatic and consular service.

Literary executors were named who are now at work on memoirs and a biography to be published and distributed among schools and colleges of Kentucky and among alumni.

Walter K. Patterson, brother and companion, survives him.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, March 26, 1833, the son of Andrew Kennedy Patterson, the President Emeritus was proud of his Scotch blood as of his American citizenship. An injury at the age of four prevented the great scholar from obtaining education early in life in Scotland, but when he came to America and went to live in the wilderness of Indiana he attended the school at Madison and leaving there at the age of 17 he taught his first school.

The following year, 1851, he entered Hanover College and led his class throughout the entire course. He was graduated from that institution in 1856 with the degree of bachelor of arts, receiving his master's de-

SOCIAL FRATERNITIES EXPECT BANNER YEAR

Three Purchase Homes; Pledges From Class of '26 Are Announced

Fraternalities at the University are prepared for the most successful year in their history. The increased facilities of the several chapters for providing living quarters for their members has relieved the housing situation considerably. The Sigma Nu's, the first to build a home, have been joined by the Sigma Alpha Epsilons, Pi Kappa Alphas and Alpha Tau Omega, who bought houses on Limestone during the summer. All have obtained possession except the Pi Kappa Alphas, whose property is under lease for another year.

The Sigma Chi's have announced the completion of plans by a New York architect for their house to be built on Winslow. They expect to begin construction this fall.

The men's social fraternities now provide a home for 250 men. The women's fraternity houses last year accommodated about sixty girls and will probably have a larger number this year. The pledges announced by the men's fraternities follow:

Kappa Alpha

STUDENT LOAN FUND AIDS WORTHY STUDENTS

Board Hopes to Increase Fund By $10,000 This Year

An aid in sending many worthy students through the University of Kentucky has been the Student Loan Fund of the University.

At present there is about $8,000 in the fund, of which $1,000 is available. During the school year just passed loans were made to ninety-three students. The maximum loan is $400, not more than $200 of which may be loaned in any one year.

To procure a loan a student should fill out a blank which may be obtained at the office of the chairman of the Loan Fund, Professor William S. Webb, of the Physics Department. This application is passed on by the Committee on the Student Loan Fund of the University Senate; the applicant must also appear in person before this committee.

As the funds are limited in consideration of the number of applicants, only worthy students are given assistance and the preference is usually given juniors and seniors.

Five thousand dollars was added to the loan fund last year. The class of 1922 gave $350 to the fund as a memorial to Jessie Dodd, a member of the class whose death occurred last spring. Mrs. W. T. Lafferty gave a series of lectures on Kentucky history in Lexington and other cities last year and donated the proceeds to the fund; her fund aggregated $1,000.

It is hoped that the fund may be increased by $10,000 this year. Already five applications for assistance have been received by the board.

Alumni Notes

Echos of the happy greetings of alumni returning from all corners of the country for the Commencement Re-Union had hardly died away until the challenge was taken up for making this the biggest year in the history of the Alumni Association and the University.

The "home comers" assembling in chapel for the thirty-fourth annual business meeting of the Association were acquainted with the record growth in numbers and strength of the Association in the last two years, from 200 to 1,200 and the chief factor in the new strength of the organization, thirty alumni clubs equally divided between Kentucky and the other states. The cooperative spirit among the former students was reflected in the growing popularity and power of the Alma Mater.

A striking answer to the promise of "friendly enemies" that because of the "monkey business" and other things the University's attendance would fall off 50 per cent this fall is contained in the registration of 1500 students during the first two days, an increase of almost 15 per cent over last year. Alumni in Kentucky and outside the State were busy throughout the summer.

Wiley Is Re-elected

Officers of the Association elected for this year are Rodman "Fightin' Red" Wiley, re-elected president; Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, vice president; Herbert Graham, re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Desha Breckinridge and William H. Townsend, elected to the Executive Committee.

Howard P. Ingels has been appointed to the Board of Trustees by Governor Morrow, succeeding P. P. Johnston, Jr. Rodman Wiley, Mr. Ingels and Mr. Johnston were nominated by ballot of the alumni, one to be appointed by the Governor. The two other alumni representatives on the Board now serving are J. Irvine Lyle and William H. Grady.

Visitors Are Kept Busy

Alumni Day was replete with activities and the number of former students participating larger than in previous years. The day was opened with a conference by colleges of alumni with faculty and members of the graduating class.

Following the annual business meeting more than 100 adjourned for luncheon at Dicker Hall. Class reunions and individual get-togethers were held throughout the city. About 80 of the visitors went on a motor trip in the afternoon through the city and to several of the leading stock farms, which included a visit to Man o' War.

The annual dinner at the Lafayette hotel and dance that followed was attended by 150 of the alumni. The principal address, which followed a welcome by President McVey and responses by Rodman Wiley for the alumni and by Miss Nancy Innes for the alumnae, was by William E. Simms, "Kentucky."

Alumni Regaled With Eloquence

With matchless eloquence and a dramatic delivery Mr. Simms, himself a son of Old Eli, painted a picture of the "New Kentucky" and pointed out the duty of the sons and daughters of the University to make that dream real.

"I would that you could see me as yourselves, standing here," said Mr. Simms, "and I would have you think of the words I utter as but the expression of your own thoughts."

With this introduction he continued his address to the increasing pleasure of the alumni, friends and faculty, until at the end everyone was prouder of his connection with the University of Kentucky and resolved to serve it better.

ALUMNI MOVE TO ALTAR

Undergraduate Romances Share in Summer Weddings

Announcement of twenty-three weddings among alumni was received at the office of the Alumni Secretary during the summer. Many of these were the culmination of romances begun on the campus.

A fairly complete record of marriages of alumni and births of prospective wearers of the Blue and White has been obtained, although some have strayed far from the fold. The co-operation of former students has been asked by the Alumni Secretary in assembling such data.

Miss Annabel Atter, '13, was married May 26, in Spokane, Washington, to Wm. E. Cookson, formerly of White Sulphur Springs, Montana. They will be at home at 1720 "L" Street, Sacramento, California.

Miss Frances Folsom McGuire '14, was married June 6, to Harry Gail Strum, at Clarksburg, W. Va. They are residing at Buckhannon, W. Va.

OPEN SERVICE DEPARTMENT

Alumni Office Announces Plan to Lend Aid to Former Students

Beginning with the new year announcement is made by the Alumni Office of a Service Department. Communications to former students whose address is unknown to the writer, addressed in care of the Alumni Secretary, will be forwarded to the latest address registered in that office.

This is one of many moves contemplated by the Alumni Association to promote a closer relationship among all former students and to make their lot a happier one. The Association, especially through the local alumni clubs, has been able to aid alumni in obtaining advantageous employment and in promoting the business ventures of alumni.

JUNGLE TOWN ORGANIZES

The "Jungle Town" Alumni Association called a meeting directly upon receipt of your letter. There was a full meeting, (just after supper) and we are glad to say every member appeared promptly, and stayed through the entire meeting. There has never been a more enthusiastic assembly here. Many things were discussed, but the most important was the Memorial Drive, and no time was lost in appointing a committee to carry out the suggested program. It was unanimously voted to rob the treasurer of his entire surplus cash, and said cash was freely given to the great fund.

We are glad to report the entire club in good health, and in all departments but finances, quite prosperous.

We have been doing some very heavy work recently, consisting of removing a tumor from an old man who had walked 18 days to get to us, and when the appendage was removed the man weighed 77 pounds less than before. He will be leaving us soon, and will return to his jungle home as advance advertising agent for the "Jungle Town Relief Society." The party in question paid us 45 cents worth of fowls for doing this operation.

BLUE AND WHITE WILL HAVE BIG GRID YEAR

Ferguson Sends Stock Up

The hopes of the wearers of the Blue and White took an upward trend when Ferguson walked into the Wildcat camp the other day and announced that he would be in Kentucky's lineup

THIRTY-TWO FRESHMEN AT OPENING PRACTICE

Fifty or More Expected on First Year Squad By End of This Week

The class of 1926 at the University of Kentucky is going to be proud of its football team, unless a lot of Freshmen miss their guesses. The Freshmen team this year marks the beginning of a new system which bars first year men from varsity athletics, and as the machine in which future varsity players are to be tested, immediately takes on a new importance and significance. And it is an auspicious beginning.

Thirty-two members of the depilated tribe draped themselves in moleskins and reported to Coach Dick Webb on Stoll Field for the opening practice Tuesday afternoon. More than a dozen of these youngsters have been given mention in various sections as all-Kentucky players—and that's not all. When the full Frosh squad is assembled, Coach Webb will have something more than half a hundred candidates electioneering for positions on the first team.

There will be some delay in equipping a part of the yearlings with uniforms, but it is expected that at least fifty will be wearing out moleskins by the end of this week. The squad will be almost, if not quite, as large as the varsity.

Coach Webb will have a very difficult task of teaching the youngsters, as they represent so many different schools and so many different styles of play. The first game will be October 20 with the Centre College Freshmen at Danville. There are four games scheduled, the limit set by University Athletic Commission. Coach Webb expects to keep the boys hard at work from now on.

"Whoever gets a place on this Freshman team," the mentor announced, "will have to show me some work." There is a preponderance of men out for backfield positions. Twenty-two out of the first thirty-two to report lined up as halfbacks and four for quarter. There is an alarming shortage of linemen, only three candidates asking for tackle positions, but the coach refused to be alarmed. "They'll get back to normal," he observed.

The strength of the Frosh team will make a valuable asset to Coach Juneau in his instruction of the varsity, as the youngsters will be taught to use the offensive tactics of the Wildcats' opponents.

again this year. Ferguson is expected to do great work behind the line. Sanders is another man in the backfield who can be counted on to do the right thing when a few or many yards are need and excellent work. Captain Birkett Lee "Big Boy" Pribble is also working in the backfield and is in excellent condition. The absence of "Slug" Fleahman and Wathen will be felt this season.

In the line Ramsey, Cammack and Russell are back at their old positions. "Chuck" Rice, King and Colpitts are fighting for the end positions. Robertson, Wiley, and Whittaker will also be in uniform this season.

Freshmen Are Ineligible

Although the new freshmen ruling does not permit Coach Juneau to pick any promising recruits from the first year class, it gives him the advantage of working with old men who are familiar with his system of coaching and are ready for advanced work. The first scrimmage of the season is scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

The 1922 football schedule follows: September 30—Marshall College at Lexington.

October 7—University of Cincinnati at Lexington.

October 14—University of Louisville at Lexington.

October 21—Georgetown College at Georgetown.

October 28—Sewanee at Lexington.

November 4—Centre College at Lexington (Home Coming.)

November 11—Vanderbilt University at Nashville.

November 18—University of Alabama at Lexington.

November 30—University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

WELCOME STUDENTS

The Kernel wishes on behalf of the University of Kentucky to extend to the old and new students a hearty welcome. The opening of the present semester marks the largest opening in the history of the institution. In spite of the fact that many students desiring to enroll here were sent elsewhere or prohibited from attending an institution of higher learning altogether because of limited facilities here fifteen hundred had matriculated Wednesday and others were expected later during the week.

To those incoming students who have chosen the University of Kentucky as the institution in which to further their education and to make it their "home" for four years, the Kernel extends a friendly greeting and assures them that they have chosen wisely in the selection of this as their Alma Mater. In return the University will give them the best possible mental, physical, moral and religious training, and return them to their families, homes and cities better citizens, more capable of carrying on the affairs with which they will be entrusted in later years.

The Kernel suggests that the old students, both men and women make a special effort to help the new students in such things as will make the path of the beginner lighter and easier in accomplishing such things as he may desire, but which would otherwise be impossible without the assistance of an upper classman. By lending assistance and by co-operation of the students with each other, with the faculty and the staff the individual desiring to accomplish the worthwhile things may do so, and at the same time be of the greatest possible assistance in the betterment of the University.

We are glad that you are here and hope that this will be the biggest and best year in the history of the University from every viewpoint, including athletics, scholarship and entertainment.

THE FIRST ISSUE

This issue of the Kernel, the first ever published in the opening week, is gotten out under difficulties that have become a pleasure to the staff in service to the students, especially in the service of those enrolled in the University of Kentucky for the first time.

Publication this week has been made possible by the co-operation of Henry Watterson chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, whose members have placed their usual abilities at the disposal of the regular staff.

"CARRY ON"

(Courier-Journal)

The best monument the State could rear to James K. Patterson would be to amplify the services of the educational institution to which he devoted the greater part of his life, and for whose advancement he labored with interest augmented, rather than abated by opposition.

Dr. Patterson was a half century ahead of a majority of educators and a majority of business men in his appreciation of the enormous importance of making agriculture thoroughly practical by making it scientific, and in his understanding of the necessity for work on the part of states to improve the means and methods upon the farm. His death occurs when, at last, the views of the "enthusiast" of the sixties and seventies are popular views; when urban populations, as never before, realize that they, as well as the farmers, have a stake in the introduction of science in the problems of growing crops and feeding animals.

Much of what the University has become is the result of the unflagging energies of James K. Patterson. All that it will be in the future as a result of anyone's work will add honor to his name, without anyone losing credit for fruitful effort.

gree in 1859. The honorary degree of doctor of philosophy was conferred upon him by Hanover College in 1875 and that of doctor of literature in 1896 by Lafayette College, the University of Vermont in 1910 and the University of Kentucky in 1916.

His career as an educator was continuous from 1856 to 1910 when he retired as President of the University. Through his influence the income of the University was increased from $9,000 a year to $145,000 and the value of the grounds and buildings from practically nothing to $930,000. His greatest single service to the State and to the University was his militant leadership, eventually successful, in the fight of 1881-82 to sustain the constitutionality of the tax levying act for the support of the University then known as the State College.

Doctor Patterson was a fellow of the Royal Historical Society of Great Britain and the Society of the Antiquaries, Scotland; the American Historical Association, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the International Tax Association, the Filson Club of Kentucky, New York Club of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and the Authors Club of London.

He was married December 27, 1859, to Lucella, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Charles F. Wing, of Greenville, Ky. Mrs. Patterson, a woman of noble character and great culture, was a descendant of the Wings of Massachusetts and on the maternal side from the Russells and Campbells of Virginia. She died in September, 1915. Their children were William Andrew, born April 12, 1868, and Hennie Ramsey, born February 9, 1870. Both are dead.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT EXPECTS ENLARGEMENT

Marked Increase in Advanced Training Course Is Noted

Despite the reduction in the army and in the number of officers detailed to colleges, the military department of the University of Kentucky will carry on and expects to have the largest enrollment and the most successful year of its history. The same personnel of instructors will be here this year, there having been no changes among the officers detailed here. Following is the staff of the Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit at the University:

Lieutenant-Colonel George D. Freeman, Jr., Infantry, D. O. L., commandant and professor of Military Science and Tactics.

Captain Joseph E. Torrence, retired, adjutant and assistant professor M. S. and T.

Captain John J. Bethurum, Infantry, D. O. L., supply officer and assistant professor M. S. and T.

Captain Marvin W. Marsh, Infantry, D. O. L., assistant professor M. S. and T.

Warrant Officer George W. Knight, chief clerk and assistant professor M. S. and T.

Technical Sergeant J. J. Kennedy, D. E. M. L., personnel sergeant and instructor.

Sergeant Matthew J. Eberhardt, D. E. M. L., ordinance sergeant and instructor.

A distinctive uniform is being furnished the advanced course students this year. It is tailor-made, the coat is of the British pattern, with roll collar and large pockets. The trousers will have straight legs and the caps will be officer's style.

McVEY SPEAKS WELCOME

Editor of Louisville Post Delivers Address at Opening

A hope for all students that they would find the year one of "power, privileges, opportunities, friendships and of greater spiritual and mental development enriching you for life's work," was expressed by President Frank L. McVey at the official opening of the University Wednesday morning.

Lewis C. Humphrey, editor of the Louisville Post, introduced by President McVey as "a man of force, of intellectual power, of vision for Kentucky," delivered a masterful address on "Fugitives from Information."

REGISTRATION OF FIRST TWO DAYS

Each of the four dormitories is filled to capacity.

Tuesday evening the Y. W. C. A. gave a get-acquainted party for the new girls. This was the first social event of the year and the informal games were heartily enjoyed.

According to the statement of Professor T. T. Jones, acting dean of men, the number of men students expenses is much larger than in foregoing work to help defray college mer years. Approximately 75 freshmen have applied for work. The same is true among the women.

The officers of the various campus organizations have returned and begun work unusually early this year. This interest and enthusiasm on the part of the old students adds greatly to the assurance that the University is beginning the best year it has ever known.

GRIDIRON DINNER WILL BECOME ANNUAL EVENT

Program of Alpha Delta Sigma Fraternity Among Features of Commencement Week

By H. A. Taylor

Finding instant favor among editors, politicians, and business men of Kentucky, the gridiron dinner, sponsored by Henry Watterson Chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, journalistic fraternity of the University of Kentucky, was pronounced a success by the 105 visitors who assembled at the palm room of the Phoenix Hotel on the night of June 12.

From the election of King Baldy the First, King of Gluttony, impersonated by Professor Enoch Grehan, until the curtain was rung down on the last scene of a "Night in Kentucky," the audience was kept in an uproar. Satire and humor routed worries, and at the conclusion of the program, members of the fraternity were showered with words of praise by those who gathered for the first gridiron dinner in the history of the university.

The warm reception accorded the initial appearance of the dinner will assure a repetition of the performance and Alpha Delta Sigma expects to continue the custom of enlivening commencement week by the addition of a gridiron dinner to the program.

Professor Grehan is King

The first event on the program for the evening was the election of a king to preside over the meeting. In an address that would do credit to a national committeeman, Dean Boyd nominated Professor Grehan for the office, and after several other nominations, he was elected by an overwhelming vote. The oath administered as the "king," donned his crown was as follows:

"I, Duke of Journalism, Lord of Paragraphs and High Flunkey for my wife, do here avow and affirm that I will do at all times that which is befitting a scholar and a gentleman. I will refrain from Coco-Cola, Conan Doyle and other spirituous combinations and will heed the warning of fire and the Louisville Chief of Police. I will be a supporter of Bulgin and his party and I will drink milk with my coffee. I further avow and attempt to affirm that I will never take the Pogo, cooties or the 'Smart Set' to my bedroom and I will refrain from atrocious assinity, diabolical deluges and bemoaning degradation. Never will I have anyone cast into Newport or a fit. I will renounce Irvine Cobb H. L. Mencken, Will Kaltenbacher and all their works, and I will do that which is at all time in hearty accord with the advertising policy of the Standard Oil Company. I have spoken the truth, for I do not lie, that is, often, so help me Governor Morrow." After the inaugural address, dinner was served. Telegrams and wireless dispatches from several prominent politicians and epitaphs of many well-known Kentuckians were read.

Max Oser Talks

While this burlesque was going on, a miniature banquet for two was being staged in another part of the room. The toastmaster, introducing himself as "Max Oser," delivered a discourse on his ideas on marriage, declaring that the "fatal step" was both a declaration of war and a treaty of peace with "Love the favorite, Honor for place, and Obey for show, although they seldom pay off in that manner, Divorce and Alimony being long shots."

Max Oser left the stage, and was followed by "Walter Camp" who delivered a highly entertaining discourse on "Why Is a Gridiron."

The feature of the program was a playlet written by members of the fraternity entitled "One Night in Kentucky." Characters were: Woods Hedspeth, a farmer; Tommy, his son; Dr. Van Meter, a physician; Brother Bryan Porter, a minister; Colonel Patterson, just a candidate; and Enoch Brisbane Allen, an eloquent editor.

Kentucky of recent months and particularly the evolution fight in the general assembly, were reviewed.

Members of the active chapter who arranged for the dinner were: Arthur Cameron, Troy Perkins, John Whitaker, Arthur Hodges, J. A. Estes, H. A. Taylor, Emmitt Bradley, Gerald Griffin, Ed. Gregg, Joe Jordan, L. B. Hall, Berl Boyd, and Harry Petrey.

STROLLERS WILL REVIVE THE THIRTEENTH CHAIR

Dramatic Club Will Send 1922 Show on the Road Again

The "Thirteenth Chair," the thirteenth annual production of the Strollers, the student dramatic club of the university which was given in Lexington and in several Kentucky towns last season, will probably be shown again this fall in Lexington and later in the winter taken on the road to towns which are insistent upon an engagement for the play. At the same time plans are being made and completed for the production of the new annual play for the 1923 season. The Strollers are doing double work this year in repeating the performance of the last season play and in attempting a new production.

The purpose, in the main, for the repeated production of the "Thirteenth Chair" is for the benefit of the Freshmen so that they may see the purpose and the ability of the University's Club. Several readings have been held by the Stroller officers and the plays under consideration for the 1923 season include "The Charm School," "Billeted," "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "Ho-Bohemia" and others.

Tryouts for membership in the organization though not fully arranged, will begin early in October probably and the method of conducting tryouts will be published and made known to those seeking eligibility.

The Stroller room located in the basement of the Science building will be open every afternoon this year and the officers will be there for the purpose, principally, of dispensing information, in regard to the plays and tryouts for eligibility. Freshmen are particularly welcome in the Stroller room and may be informed there in regard to the purposes of the club.

John Burks, director of the organization announced this week that "Amateur Night," the annual Stroller night, would probably be held October 1 as has been customary in former years.

NEW YORK CLUB MEETS

Eastern Alumni Enjoy Regular Luncheons During Year

The New York Alumni Club held its first fall luncheon at the Engineer's Club on Thursday, September 7th, with about 35 in attendance. J. I. Lyle, the president, opened the meeting with a brief address, welcoming the new members from the 1922 class and calling attention to the fine spirit that has always been noticeable in the New York Club.

Dean Anderson was present and gave us a very enthusiastic talk on policies of education in engineering, emphasizing the fine standing the University has among industries and employers of engineers.

The matter of club luncheons was discussed, it being decided that they would be held at intervals of about every other month and at such time as we were able to have speakers present who would draw out a large attendance. These meetings are always enjoyed by the fellows who in their regular occupation seldom get an opportunity to see any of the old bunch.
